

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A support stage for a prompter has a bi-divisional structure comprising a first support stage on which an LCD and a semitransparent mirror are supported and a second support stage on which an ENG camera is supported. Because the first support stage and the second support stage are constructed in the manner as to be capable of overlapping with each other by a slide mechanism, the support stage can be compact in size and can have a better weight balance; hence the support stage is easy to carry.
